Jobless Pay Bill Signed

Payments to Unemployed. Extended 13 More Weeks

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy today signed legislation providing additional unemployment insurance payments for as much as 13 weeks for jobless workers who have exhausted their benefits. Payments now can start in 15 days.

The measure had been tagged the No. 1 bill, for quickest action, of the Kennedy admnistration. It was the first specific anti-recession measure enacted by the new Congress. Legislative action was completed Wednesday.

The administration estimates the benefits may go to some three million persons and amount in all to nearly $1 billion during the two-year authorized life of the program.

Persons who exhaust their basic benefits under the state-federal unemployment insurance system during the two years starting last July 1 are eligible to benefit from the new law.

The actual total of payments under the bill will depend on the course of the national economy during the coming months-on how many long-term unemployed

It provides additional payments up to one-half the duration of the original benefits. This provision sets the maximum at 13 weeks, since the longest basic state program is for 26 weeks.

The unemploymet compensatio payments are made by the states. The federal government will, however, turn over to the states the money needed for extended payments.

With the aim of getting the money back for the U.S. Treasury, the bill provides for a special .4 of one per cent increase in the payroll tax paid by employers. his will be effective on wages paid during the two years start-

The basic tax will become 3.5 per cent on payroll. Existing arrangements under which the states reduce the tax for some employers with records of stable employment are not changed.

The Treasury advances to the states, as provided in the bill, are to be repaid out of the yield of the extra .4 per cent payroll tax levied nationwide.

Amaro, alias Johnny Green, in Kansas City that same afternoon. All of the witnesses for Amaro will be asked to take lie detector tests, according to James V. Horn, an attorney for the accused. A lie detector test given Amaro shortly after he was arrested proved inconclusive.

A second polygraph test may be administered to Amaro before his April 21 hearing, according to Clancy Tull, attorney and state commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars. Tull said he entered the case because Amaro is a VFW member and because he is confident that witnesses for Amare are telling the truth.

tail Price for Model V-100 2-door Sedan, transportation, to go with its beautiful face!

Expensive beauty? Everybody thought so. Then we revealed the figure. Turns out, Valiant doesn't play hard-to-get at all. In fact, prices start $100 lower than 1960 models. Most people just made an honest mistake. They took one look, they took one ride, or they heard a Valiant owner bragging. The upshot was that they thought Valiant cost more than ordinary compacts. We're here to tell you that nothing could be further from the truth. Look at that figure! Match it to the high trade-in allowances we're making. Makes a mighty pretty picture! Let us sketch it out for you ... in person. Come in this week.

Limitations of Group Action

"You might as well put seven hens to lay one egg, as seven men to draw up one resolution." The remark was attributed to Daniel Webster after he had contested somewhat futilely with six colleagues.

It is obvious that group action has some limitations, whatever its advantages, and that individual action has its advantages, if also its limitations. We might still be arguing over a declaration of independence if Thomas Jefferson had had six colleagues.

The question of group versus individual action arises in connection with revisions and translations of the Bible, and is emphasized at the moment by the appearance of the New English New Testament, which like its great counterpart, the Revised Standard Version, is the work of a group of eminent scholars.

The work in either case rests upon a solid basis of scholarship, determining matters of original Greek text and linguistic data. It is obvious that such work could proceed only upon the basis of such scholarship, of which the results were largely available to individual translators or revisers as

The defects of individual translators are that they bear at some points the shortcomings or idiosyncracies of the translators. A keen critic has pointed out that in what is perhaps the greatest of individual translations to date, that by James Moffatt, the expression is sometimes that of a Scotchman rather than of an Englishman.

But in the group revisions and translations the evidence is of a complex process, with difficulties of intercommunication. Determination of a particular matter was by

It all suggests the question whether the greatest Bible in English has yet appeared. Suppose a glorified scholar, wise and able to avail himself of all that scholarship has done, should combine with such mastery Shakespearean creative genius in the knowledge and use of language, would the result not mark something not yet attained? Without disparaging all that has been done, this seems an ideal not yet attained. Is it attainable?

Time alone may tell, and it may never be

Washington Merry-Go-Round

President Kennedy on Latin America

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON - President Kennedy's 10point program for Latin America, in my opinion a farsighted and masterful document, didn't arouse too many hosannas where it was expected to help most. There were three reasons:

1. The Latinos remember the $5 billion. most of it in gifts, which we pumped into Western Europe under the Marshall Plan every year. They compare this with the current proposal of only $600 million in loans, not gifts, for the much bigger territory of Latin America.

2. We have been making a fetish of aiding Africa, and Africa is Latin America's No. 1 competitor. It produces coffee, cocoa, copper, manganese, and other products sold by Latin America.

3. JFK has not been too astute in picking some of his Latin American ambassadors.

On the whole, he has done a remarkable job of picking personnel in Washington and is entitled to some mistakes. Special envoy Adolf Berle is one of them. He's too aloof, too intellectual, never slapped a back, given an abrazo, or kissed a lady's hand.

Tom Mann, who has done a fine job as assistant secretary of state, also is not exactly qualified to be ambassador to Mexico. Tom comes from Texas and they "remember the Alamo" in Mexico as well as Texas. They remember particularly the loss, not only of Texas but New Mexico, Arizona and Southern California.

Berle and Quadros

When Adolf Berle served as ambassador in Brazil, he got in wrong with a lot of Brazilians by coming out publicly for free elections. This sounds like a fine statement and it's something that we continually urge on Moscow in regard to Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Rumania.

But when Berle did this in Brazil, it meant knocking the props out from under President Getulio Vargas, a good friend of the United States and a generally popular president.

Later Vargas committed suicide This background may have had something to do with the cold shoulder given Berle oy newly elected President Janio Quadros last month. Berle was proposing to Quadros that Brazil unite with the United States in boycotting dictator Fidel Castro in Cuba in order

Suppose you gave an agent power of attorney to sell your automobile. But he then sold your house, and claimed the contract gave him that power. Would any judge or jury uphold his claim?

President Kennedy took an oath to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution. He said he had taken "the same solemn oath our forbears prescribed nearly a century and three-quarters ago." It was the same oath, to preserve the same Constitution, except for the Amendments that have been added to it.

All other Federal officials, Legislative, Executive and Judicial, have also taken a similar oath to preserve the Constitution.

Will they do it? Consider for a moment the proposed Federal Department of Urban Welfare, which, if it is enacted, will be almost the final operation on the dying Constitution, so far as its division of powers between the Federal Government and the States is con-

There was some talk in Wall Street of drafting Nixon to be head of Chrysler, but it was finally decided Nixon was no industrialist. . . . President Kennedy has a lot on his mind, but even so doesn't forget the little things. Last October he borrowed a knitted crimson scarf from Sen. Joe Clark of Pennsylvania while they were touring the keystone state. It was cold, and Kennedy has a phobia against wearing too many clothes. So the scarf came in handy. Four months passed. The other day Sen. Clark received a package containing the scarf, plus a note from the President: "Here is your Harvard scarf. I wouldn't want you to catch cold while cheering Harvard in the stadium." . . . # Kennedy's Three Problems On Laos

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)-President Kennedy has three gigantic problems in trying to save Laos-an unproductive country of 90,000 square miles and two million easy going people-from communism.

In his news conference statement on Laos Thursday night he avoided a shrill note. But two of his problems, the immediate ones. are danger-loaded. The third, long range and simple-looking, is just as baffling.

1. How peacefully to get the rebels, Red-led and Red-supported to stop trying to take over the called on Russia, which is giving supplies to the rebels, to agree to a cease-fire.

2. What if this fails? Use force, which would be mainly American force, to stop the rebels? It could be another Korea, but worse-a war with Red China or Russia,

3. Suppose a showdown is averted now and Kennedy gets what he says he wants: A neutral Laos "tied to no outside power." How can it be saved from a Red-takeover eventually anyway, from inside if not outside?

Laos borders on two Communist countries: Red China and Red North Viet Nam. China stayed out of the Korean war until Gen. Douglas MacArthur took his forces close to the Red Chinese-North Korean border.

Laos has four non-Communist neighbors. It is therefore a key place in Southeast Asia. Once Laos goes, the pressure will begin on the neighbors. Unless the Reds are stopped in

It can't stay neutral. That's simple. The United States and the Communists will both be busy in Laos trying to influence it in one way or another. This struggle would go on for years. Since 1954 this country has

To use a word you'll be reading more about in the near future, they're embryopathic, meaning that they took place while the developing infant was resident within the mother's body.

Now let me explain that this differentiation is no mere hairsplitting, as you'll understand when I give you details of a disturbing letter sent by a wellmeaning mother who quite understandably, is uninformed in this complex field of medicine.

The great difference between hereditary and embryopathic disturbances lies in the fact that the latter, being acquired, are not handed down from generation to generation.

Respect Need for Silence After Quarrel---It's Real

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

A parent should never give the silent treatment to a child she's punished or scolded, should she? My upstairs neighbor clams up with her kids after she's punished or bawled them out for doing something wrong. I told her I'd heard a PTA psychologist say how bad this was-that parents should always let bygones be bygones when punishment is over. But she said she didn't care what the psychologist said. . . ANSWER: You care, though, dont you?

Tell me something. Does the psychologist's statement worry you? Do you sometimes find it hard to give your children the same easy acceptance after punishment that you gave them before they offended or frightened

Why should this reserve make you a bad mother?

Some of us need to let bygones be bygones with anyone who has hurt us. We need to withdraw into the privacy of ourselves to think or feel more deeply about what has happened to us.

If we pretend we're not this kind of person; if fear of what silence so that we can begin to some psychologist thinks compels understand its meaning to us.

When these young marriages last the financial burden at least can often be split between families. But when they don't last, it is the wife's parents who usually end up with the burden.

Daughter - often with a child or two - comes back home, and dad has to start supporting a second family. It may not bankrupt him - but it usually puts a heavy strain on family finances. Just at the time when he should be about through with the expense of rearing his own family, the wife's father finds himself with a new set of dependents.

METAL WINDOW SASH RUSTY? TRY THIS WAY TO STOP PROBLEM

Indoors or out, steel sash

takes a year 'round beating that adds up to real rust problems. Outside, it's the combined attack by rain, snow, sun...changes in temperature . . . and general weathering. Inside, the basic trouble is caused by moisture condensation in colder weather. This is particularly true in kitchens, bathrooms, and basement areas where excessive moisture is present.

If present paint is in reasonably good condition, remove loose paint and blisters, then apply Rust-Oleum® 960 Primer and follow-up with desired Rust-Oleum top coat color. Rusted sash should be scraped and wirebrushed, then primed with Rust-Oleum 769 Primer. After primer is thoroughly dry, apply your choice from the Rust-Oleum finish Featured at your nearby paint, hardware, lumber and farm dealer - Rust-Oleum is available in brush or self-spray containers. Ask your Rust-Oleum dealer for your free copy of Rust-Oleum's new thirty-six page booklet, "101 Rust-Stopping Tips," or write Rust-Oleum Corporation, 2990 Oakton St., Evanston, Illinois. RUST-OLEUM STOPS

Sullivan vs. Paar

Economics, Egos Fuel Feud Over Salaries of Stars

By DICK KLEINER Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK -(NEA)- Behind the Jack Paar vs. Ed Sullivan feud is a complex story of show business economics aggravated by inflated egos.

It boils down to two men who have honest differences of opinion and definition.

On the surface, they fought over the price paid to performers on the two shows-a flat $320 fee for an appearance with Paar and one considerably higher with Sullivan.

What set Sullivan off was the case of a pretty, young singer named Joan Fairfax. She took $1,000 for doing two numbers with Old Smiley. When she worked the Paar show, she also did two numbers but her pay check was only Sullivan blew his stack. Paar defended his position by saying that guests on his show don't come on primarily to perform but to be members of the panel.

Sullivan's contention - and this is shared by many show business insiders - is that there may be merit in what Paar says when applied to comedians-but not to singers.

A comic, such as Buddy Hackett or Myron Cohen, can sit on the Paar panel and ad lib. He is not using his stand-up material. He can then go on the Sullivan show, or similar variety TV presentations, and do his regular routine without being afraid that the public has seen it all before.

Sullivan's friends say he would never have objected to the difference in price for comedians.

But singers are another matter.

When a girl such as Miss Fairfax sits on the panel of Paar's show, she knows she's going to sing. Sullivan and his supporters can see little difference between a singer performing from the seat of Paar's easy chair and standing up and singing on the Sullivan show. A song is a song is a song.

As one veteran Broadway manager says, "Even a block-buster act goes on Paar's panel and knows he has to sing. His eyes are open."

What makes Paar's stand hard for Sullivan and others to swallow is that his "panelists" often are required to rehearse their

At other times, they are, in the words of one Broadwayite, "conned" into performing on the air. He mentioned Gracie Fields, who was surprised on the air by a request to sing, and trumpeter Al Hirt, who was so startled that he didn't even have his instrument with him. (He borrowed one from one of Jose Melis' musi-

When the Paar Show started, it was a panel show. The price for guests was established and nobody objected. But gradually the panel elements have been dropped or, at least, relegated to second place, behind performances. It is this element of subterfuge which rankles Sullivan.

But Paar obviously believes that guests on his show are not quite the performers they are on the Sullivan Show and others. On the so-called variety shows, there are production numbers and other devices to make the entertainers stand out.

It is this honest difference of opinion that has got out of hand. Advisers of both men are angry because the whole affair became a public disgrace. The feeling is that neither man helped himself in the public eye.

An economic oddity of the Paar-Sullivan problem is that both shows are booked by the same man, agent Marty Kummer of MCA. The Sullivan show is an MCA package; MCA handles Paar personally. Therefore, the whole business of booking the shows falls on Kummer, who is 1961's candidate for "The Man On the Hottest Spot."

When the debate was scheduled, and later called off, there appears to have been another honest difference of opinion-this time on the definition of the word "debate."

Sullivan apparently thought a statement and rebuttal constituted a formal debate. Paar believed HOME LIFE-When Nanette Fabray zooms into one of her zany antics on TV's Westinghouse Playhouse series, she's probably portraying a scene from her actual home life. She's married to Ranald MacDougall, author of the series, He creates the situations Nanette and Wendell Corey, who plays Ranald's real life role, study above in TV script.

Lassie in Midst Of His Owners' Marital Conflict

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Lassie. television's top dog, may be in the middle of a marital conflict.

Mae B. Weatherwax, wife of Lassie's owner and trainer, sued for separate maintenance Thursday and asked that Lassie be counted as part of the couple's community property.

Mrs. Weatherwax, 50, charges cruelty in her complaint against Rudd B. Weatherwax, 52. She asked $1,113 a month in alimony pending trial of her suit.

She estimated Lassie's value at $100,000 and said her husband has other valuable assets. The Weatherwaxes married in 1931 and have two children.

that a debate required an open discussion

The feeling around the television centers is that neither "welched" nor "backed out" but that both were sincerely unable to agree on ground rules.

With people other than Paar and Sullivan, who are both on the egotistical side, probably all of the issues could have been ironed out without the public getting into

Show business, in general, and Paar and Sullivan, in particular, would have been better off if cooler heads had prevailed.

ROANOKE RAPIDS, N. C. (P)-Townspeople complained when their electricity went off. They found that birds had done it again. They had shorted out a conductor, leaving two paper mills, four textile plants, two radio stations and 10,200 customers powerless for the second time in a month.

Unique Contract For Lawrence

HOLLYWOOD (AP) - Lawrence Welk's Champagne music may flow from the Hollywood Palladium as long as he lives.

Those are the terms of an unusual contract the orchestra leader signed with Palladium operators Don Fedderson and Sam Lutz. Financial terms were not disclosed.

Fedderson said Thursday the pact provides that Welk's orchsetra will appear at the Hollywood night spot every Friday and Saturday night commencing July 21.

Some Special Hours Still On Screens

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK - (P) - Network television, while moving inexorably toward the summer season of re-runs, is still coming up with hours of special interest. The next few days are particularly full and varied, ranging from opera to a documentary showing the West wasn't so wild.

Tonight, the entertainment highlights are on the light side. There is NBC's new "Five Star Jubilee," featuring country style and pop music, making its bow (8-8:30 Eastern Standard Time) and later the bi-weekly and popular "Sing Along with Mitch" (9-10) on the same network.

Small fry will be particularly interested in NBC's Saturday formance by the Bertram Mills night special (7:30-8:30), a per-Circus of London, with Joe E. Brown hosting.

The NBC Opera company will be seen and heard in a two-hour production of Moussorgsky's "Boris Godunov" on Sunday (3-5). It will be followed on the network with "An Omnibus of American Songs" (5-6) with Edie Adams and Robert Goulet. Then, still on NBC, there is an East Hall of Fame drama, "Give Us Barabbas,' 'a story about the trial of Jesus, with James Daly in the title role (6:30-8).

Monday night the Danny Thomas show is worth a special look (CBS, 9-9:30)—an episode featuring Joey Bishop, and made as a pilot for a series under consideration for next season. Tuesday night NBC has a Project 20 documentary, "The Story of Will Rogers" (9-10) and ABC has a study of the Kennedy administration on its "Close-Up" series

Gary Cooper is narrator and illusion-blaster Wednesday night on NBC's "The Real West," a study of the years between 1849 and 1900 which apparently discounts the legends of the fastest guns.

Rudolph Valentino and Vilma Banky are stars of Thursday night's "Silents Please" (ABC, 10:30-11), a condensed version of "The Eagle."

Marines, 7th Fleet Units On Move In The Far East

BANGKOK, Thailand (A)-U. S. Marines and units of the 7th Fleet were on the move in the Far East Thursday, raising the belief they are on alert in event of an East-West showdown over Laos.

Military strategists of the anti-Communist Southeast Asia Treaty Organization held a secret six-hour conference and reportedly heard U. S. Adm. Harry D. Felt once again urge them to "get tough."

Washington imposed one of the strictest security clampdowns on military movements since the Korean War but it was obvious something was up.

Police Records Point to Danger Spots

Most Accidents Happen At Five Intersections

By RALPH JONES

ONE Sedalian has been involved in 13 traffic accidents in the city during the past six years, according to records on file in the traffic division of the local police department, yet the driver legally retains his Missouri Drivers License.

The license cannot be revoked or suspended under Missouri law, because the driver has not been convicted of four moving traffic violations within any two-year period. If the driver had been convicted of four moving traffic violations within a two-year period, his license would have been suspended, and the driver adjudged a "habitual violator of traffic laws."

BROADWAY AND OSAGE-Perhaps nearby Broadway School and the divided roadway on Broadway were contributing factors that led to this intersection being declared the fourth most dangerous in Sedalia last year.

Arrival and departure of school busses, and uncontrolled crossings along with traffic slowed down for the Broadway and Ohio intersection create some congestion.

BROADWAY AND ENGINEER - This fifth most dangerous intersection in Sedalia looks like one of the safest. But six accidents here in 1960 proved it is not as safe as it looks.

Officials believe inattention caused most of the accidents. They were rear-end collisions, with cars headed west on Broadway.

BROADWAY AND LIMIT-There's little doubt as to reason why the intersection of Broadway and Limit was declared the most dangerous intersection in Sedalia in 1960. It is

Clothing Drive

Students of the Sedalia Public Schools will take part in "Save the Children Federation's" bundle days, March 16 and 17.

On these days, students will take to school good used clothing, shoes, and blankets for distribution to needy children, youth, and adults in the southern mountain region of the United States.

The clothing is to be taken directly to school in sacks or boxes. It will be repacked for shipment.
